Debate Topic: Does homework promote learning?

Pros:

I think homework does promote learning because it provides more time to help you learn. It helps students with time management and can reduce screen time for students. Homework is also good for teaching students how to work independently.

by Jamirie
Anderson

Cons:

I think that homework does not promote learning. I think this because when most people get home they don't even do their homework. Also, people can just copy off of each other. Because of this, people do not learn anything from just homework alone.

Hernandez
